ROME, April 8.—I have often been asked whether men are suited and adapted for participation in political life and whether she is capable of attaining that capacity which man usually reaches in this field. I shall begin by giving an outline of what has hitherto happened.

In England women have filled military and government positions. We have been able to judge their activity in parliament and to appreciate in a just measure the active contribution given, for example by Miss Margaret Bondfield, who was Minister of Labor in Premier MacDonald's second cabinet.

The conquest of public life by women has assumed vast proportions in the United States. There they have been appointed to both state and federal posts. They have even been elected in some places to the highest offices.

Some of these pioneers have reached the position of governor of a state, while others have been elected in congress. President Roosevelt himself appointed a woman in his cabinet, Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor.

It has taken little more than ten years to do all this. In the future, women will not make an official bid for the right place for supremacy in the field of politics. When England and America granted votes to women, the franchise had long been in existence in other countries.

It is difficult to guess whether some of the women who occupy public posts will eventually succeed in the future in achieving a rank equal to that already achieved by men in the field of politics. Without conceding queens and empresses. Hitherto we have never heard any woman who succeeded in giving new and original impetus to any branch of activity. It is rather to be regretted that when voters give suffrage to women they are really giving the same suffrage which they affirm themselves the mentality of the masses.

As I have observed, as that democracy knows how to put the right man in the right place for supremacy in the government of the commonwealth. On the other hand, the characteristic of its most fundamental and characteristic characteristic is that democracy is not always well advised in the choice of what should be the right man for the job. It is the choice of what should be the right man for the job. It is the choice of what should be the right man for the job.

ONE-HALF PLUS ONE
I cannot bring myself to believe that the right or wrong, good or evil of a people may be decided for the present and future on a basis of "one-half plus one."

Why then should I think or wish or admit the advisability of increasing the number of voters, and this is no question of increasing the number of voters, but of turning on a switch which will give millions of women votes?

OTTAWA, April 8.—The bill to legalize hospital sweepstakes made its bow to the house of commons yesterday, the meeting being preceded by a speech by the speaker, Mr. Mackenzie King, in support of the measure, already passed by the senate after a rough passage, succeeded in "taking it out" holding the floor until the hour for private business had expired. It may be discussed again next Tuesday, but the bill has only a slight chance of passing.

Major C. G. Power, Lieut. Quebec South, its sponsor, addressed the assembly to sweepstakes for years and asked the house to legalize something he believed would continue as long as a man had the chance to reap a fortune by risking a small sum.

EDMONTON OPPOSITION
But two opponents to the bill, A. U. G. Barry, Cdn. Edmonton East, and A. M. Carmichael, Prog. Kinsmen, took the opposite view. Mr. Barry said the opposite view would be wrong to legalize gambling and succeeded in holding the floor long enough to stop further debate today.

A. U. G. Barry (Cdn., Edmonton East) said what the country needed at the present time, more than anything else, was hard work and thrift, not the spirit of gambling which he believed had been one of the worst influences in the country in recent years.

It would be a very wrong thing for parliament to give countenance to gambling in any form or degree, Mr. Barry declared. He had the holding of respect for the law, and the wisdom of the motherland. Mr. Barry said he was not standing very indulgent gambling sweepstakes were not permitted.

IRELAND'S CASE
The government of the south of Ireland permitted sweepstakes, but that was no argument in favor of the bill, Mr. Barry said.

By the time the bill would be automatically repealed on July 1, 1934.

In five Irish sweeps held prior to 1932 a total of 113,000 was collected. Mr. Carmichael said that the British government in 1932 had reached the hospitals. Apart from the moral aspect of the business he thought that spending 30 cents to raise 20 cents for charity was bad business.

AN INQUIRY CONDUCTED BY THE British government in 1932 had found the British hospitals, jockey club and all Protestant churches opposed to sweepstakes. Mr. Carmichael said.

The Leviathan, largest ship in the American merchant marine, and one of the two largest ships in the world, may be doomed to the junk yard. The United States Lines finds the 26-year-old vessel too costly to operate in competition with newer vessels. The shipping company would like to turn the vessel back to the U.S. shipping board.

WAZZS LIAISON ASSAULT

Survivors Tell How Huge Akron Girders Buckled

Each Man on Ill-Fated Air Liner Stuck to His Post Until End—Quiz Will Be Severe.

By CLARENCE M. WRIGHT

Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, April 8.—How the crew worked to keep the giant airship Akron from dropping into the sea with 75 men aboard was told to the United States House of Representatives naval committee Friday by the only three men who survived the tragedy.

They agreed that each man stuck to his job until the end. Then one of the three jumped into the water, tearing his way through the fabric covering of the ship.

With the testimony of these three men—Lieutenant Commander Herbert V. Wiley, executive officer; Richard E. Deal, boatwain's mate; and Moody E. Erwin, metallurgist—the naval committee began its investigation.

SPECIAL QUES IN SIGHT

The rules committee meanwhile heard representative McClinton,

Oklahoma democrat, say in behalf of his resolution to set up a special house committee for the investigation.

"The naval committee was aware that it was willing to go to the bottom of this,"

MACON TO FLY

Despite some questions as to the availability of continuing to operate the airship, the navy announced meanwhile that the Akron's sister ship, the Macon, will take her trial flight as scheduled on Thursday.

If the three survivors of the Akron have their way, they will be aboard her soon. Not once in their testimony did either of the survivors say he had had enough of airships.

No Luck in Search For Akron Bodies

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 8.—Search for the bodies of the crew of the United States airship Akron went on today with no results.

The belief was growing that they were entangled in the wreckage and would never be recovered until the airship is raised or until they are freed by divers.

GIGANTIC SLAUGHTER BASED ON FAKED HITLER ASSASSINATION

Germany's Chaos Is Complete When First Shot Fired

Dr. Frick, Minister of Interior, Issues Grim Warning to Public in Ominous Document.

By PIERRE VAN PASSEN
Special also in American Bulletin

Copyright, 1933

ZURICH, April 8.—A great public massacre is in preparation in Germany. Hitler and his associates are by no means satisfied with the sanguinary accompaniment of the storm troopers. In spite of all the horrors the Marxist regime of violence is not broken. The effect of imprisoning tens of thousands of men, women and children and subjecting them to nameless tortures, is that it produces a new regime of violence is spreading and affecting layers of the population who were hitherto devoted of all revolutionary sentiment. The inevitable is happening.

Violence is breeding violence. The Nazi state has shown themselves in the workers' quarters in Berlin under pressure by battalions of police, equipped with armored cars, poison gas bombs and machine guns.

The situation in the popular districts of Berlin and Hamburg is worse than it has been since Hitler's seizure of power. The power is being handled over to the police.

MAKES ASSASSINATION
Because of this resistance another pretext is being sought to unleash bloody measures. The next provocation, it becomes more obvious every day, will take the form of an attempt on the life of a prominent German politician, either the President Hindenburg or the Chancellor Brüning.

The plot will be discovered just in time. This will serve to whip up the zeal of the Nazi storm troops to fever pitch and the real person who Hitler has been grooming for years will be on his way to the gallows.

It is not on it will be distinguished from the present ideal world in that the masses will be in public.

The government is planning the setting for a program massacre is clear from the following official communication sent by the Weimar Agency. The president of the Munich police informed the press that an attempt on the chancellor's life has been prevented.

Information received from Switzerland for several days past has shown that attempts to the lives of the chancellor and of other leading personalities of the state were being organized by Communists.

WOULD THROW BOMBS
The documentary evidence, the police president said, was rather substantial. Three "Chickadees," one of whom spoke German, and two other Russians of Czech, had been observed in the neighborhood of the Wagner museum. That is, near the chancellery's Munich residence.

They had come in a car carrying a number of men and had placed three hand grenades and other ammunition in the neighborhood of the museum.

Statements made by witnesses showed that the plan was to throw the hand grenades at the moment the procession passed through the Prince Regent street.

The approach of the police who had been warned by the witnesses had frightened away the three men.

The hand grenades, with explosive capsules had been taken away for the police, who stated that they had given every attempt of this kind as a threat to state order.

"The moment the first shot is fired," the government threatened, "through the media of the press, the radio and the cinema, the German people will be shown the interior of the Reichstag and the Reichstag will be in flames."

The sound of this document is as if it were a threat. If it is possible, it is possible to have established that the three men were not only in the street but also in the building where the Reichstag was located.

GOLD STANDARD NOW BETRAYED OF BEST FRIEND

current in the past year. A greater de facto stability of sterling would be an improvement, from all points of view.

There are only two good reasons for exchange fluctuations—to compensate wide price changes elsewhere or to make unprofitable those large but meaningless migrations of international short loan money from one international center to another.

Great Britain has, therefore, to consider whether there is any compromise which she can reasonably offer to meet the pressure and complaints of her neighbors, who believe that the unsteadiness of sterling is an important obstacle in the way of a recovery of world prices.

The only kind of compromise which it would be practical to discuss in present circumstances would be an undertaking by Great Britain that the maximum range in the gold value of sterling over the next twelve months should be limited to (say) five per cent. This subject always has been no further serious collapse meanwhile in the gold prices of commodities, at a basic rate selected with reference to the actual figure ruling at the time and the average figure of previous months.

Would it be safe and prudent to give such an undertaking? Yes, it would be part of a general scheme of financial appeasement.

British opinion regards at least one condition as being necessary for even a qualified return to gold. This is usually expressed by saying that there must be a more equal distribution of the world's gold reserves.

If this means that the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve System of the United States are to share out their gold reserves with the numerous countries of the world, it is clearly quite remote from anything which can possibly happen.

INTERNATIONAL GOLD NOTES

But there is, I am convinced, a better and more practical way of satisfying this condition—namely, by creating an international gold note, based on and equivalent to gold, thus doing internationally what all countries have long done nationally.

The details of such a scheme would need an article to themselves. But, broadly speaking, I would have the Bank of International Settlements created for this purpose, authorized to issue notes up to (say) $5,000,000,000 which all participating countries would agree to accept as the legal equivalent of gold, these notes to be available as reserve money to the central banks of the world against the gold interest (as a reserve fund against expenses and contingencies), in proportions corresponding to each country's normal requirements for gold reserves.

ABOLISH EXCHANGE RESTRICTIONS

It might be a further condition that the participating nations, thus safeguarded, should abolish exchange restrictions and other abnormal impediments on international trade.

With this supplement to the effective gold standard of the world available for currency purposes, a qualified return to the gold standard would be practicable for most countries. Moreover, provision could be made for a gradual withdrawal of the notes if prices were to rise above a certain level.

I see no other way, unless after a long interval of time, of satisfying the conditions to the distribution of monetary reserves laid down by the preparatory committee of the World Conference in their recent report.

What is the alternative? The risk of a gradual descent into yet greater chaos. Certainly a further progressive abandonment of the gold standard by one country after another, with an accentuation of the difficulties of those nations still adhering to the barbarous relic.

ALBERTA MIGHT SHOW AT REGINA

Answering a question by George H. Webster, Liberal, Calgary, in the legislature on Friday, Hon. George Howley, minister of agriculture and health, stated that there was a possibility that Alberta might be represented at the World Grain Congress at Regina next July by an exhibit that would cost $3,000.

Mr. Webster asked the minister just what he had in mind for the Regina exhibit, as many requests had been made to him for information as to what the province was going to do. He felt something should be done in the way of an exhibit.

Replying, the minister stated that the department proposed to defray out of one-half Alberta exhibitors' entry fees, amounting to about $200. Assistance had been given by the field crop branch to exhibitors selecting samples. The number of entries from Alberta totaled 20, from 150 individual exhibitors.

In each, it was proposed to send three judging teams, of three men each.

Competitions had been held at various provincial centres to select the teams and the winners would be held later. Expenses of these teams to Regina would be paid by the government.

Dealing with a provincial exhibit, the minister said that a statement indicated such an exhibit could not be prepared for less than $5,000.

The space allotted Alberta for an exhibit was between the locations of the Ontario government and the C.N.E. It thus would be incumbent upon Alberta to prepare a creditable offering. The minister read a letter from Hon. W. C. Buehler, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan.

Hon. Mr. Buehler had said that an impression might be created if provinces were not all represented. Manitoba had agreed to arrange an exhibit and he suggested Alberta do likewise.

Hon. Mr. Howley said that if Manitoba was going in he would recommend that Alberta do likewise.

WORK IS WANTED FOR INJURED MEN

Efforts of Chris Pittman, Labor Editor, to include in the Workmen's Compensation Act, provision for injured workmen unable to obtain employment, fell by the wayside in committee of the entire legislature recently on Friday.

If the amendment were passed, declared Premier J. E. Brownlee, it would mean an additional $40,000 to the expenditures of the Board, based on a six month completion.

The Premier also stated the fact that a committee had been appointed last year to review the Act and the government felt that there should be no real need of altering it again at such an early date. Furthermore, it was felt that it would be unfair to put through such an amendment when other matters had not had an opportunity of presenting their claims.

The Premier also pointed out the difficulties attendant upon the inclusion of clause, from a financial standpoint. The Act was showing a deficit of $10,000 for the first quarter of this year.

Restoration of the cost had not been of a higher cost. He knew of many cases where injured workmen could not get work and this, he contended, was an injustice to the workmen and employees.

profitable securities. The plan will have to be used to convert something less than one bond out of one hundred and fifteen.

The Dominion of Canada, provincial governments and municipal councils in Canada should take courage from this and appeal to holders of public securities in Canada to also accept conversion bonds at lower interest rates.

A conversion loan in Australia resulted in 97
per cent of the government and municipal bonds in the country being turned in. The plan in New Zealand has done even better than that, Canadian bond-holders cannot be supposed to be more greedy, or less patriotic, than those of other Dominions. They should be given the opportunity to show that they, too, are willing to share the sacrifice and help pull the country out of the hole.

CANADA MAY GAIN

Canada will no doubt benefit in some degree if Great Britain again is forced to restrict her imports. That may happen, but Premier Macdonald is taking power to declare a ban if British subjects in Russia are not accorded the fair treatment to which they are entitled on Canadian grounds and as a matter of national usage.

British Columbia lumber interests were elated
last night at the prospect of finding that the British as a result of the trade agreements made at Ottawa, they sent a delegation across the Atlantic to make trade connections, but the delegates returned with neither contracts nor hopes. Soviet agents had stepped into the scene and contracted to deliver British requirements for the year, at prices the British Columbia mills could not meet.

If Russia sees fit to throw away the business it
thus secured, the Canadian lumbermen will profit proportionately. It is not the fact that they can deliver the goods at competitive prices against supplies from other countries. Since Russia is not selling wheat, any influence upon wheat prices would be speculative and uncertain. The Soviet crisis, aside from lumber there is no other commodity to be much gain for Canada in sight.

Any benefit that they may come this way will not, however, be because of the trade agreement made last night, but because of Russia's hold-up in throwing away an advantage it now holds.

WASHINGTON TAKES A HAND

Paris reports that the Government of France has accepted an invitation to take part in a meeting at Washington of the conference of nations to prepare for a world economic conference.

Coming at this late date the announcement seems peculiar. A world economic conference was supposed to be definitely among the things intended for more than a year. A committee at Geneva some time ago drew up a program which has been printed and circulated in Canada, and presumably in all other countries.

The inference from the above dispatch is that the Government of Washington does not like the look of this program and is undertaking to engineer the conference along lines unlikely to itself.
That need not concern us, for the conference is in the prospect of the conference producing results, though it does invite wonder as to what part of the program Washington objects to.

It is objection certainly cannot be based on the ground that the agenda is not comprehensive enough. In point of fact this opens the way for a discussion of international relations, and the relationships ranging all the way to tariffs and duties.

It is that President Roosevelt insists, as President Hoover said he would insist, that these two subjects are matters of domestic policy and not open for general discussion. If that is the basis of disagreement, the conference will be a disappointment as a means of effecting world recovery.

"SOUND MONEY" MEANS DEFLATION

The agricultural community of the United States Senate recommends that the currency be inflated
in order to "check deflation."

Canadian "sound money" worshippers please note. Here is a committee of the United States Senate that has the "sound money" in the country that has the "sound money" in the country's own money, and other forms of property.
The only means, it will be observed, that either branch of Congress has been able to discover in three years of frantic search.

The United States has carried along or more of the world's gold supply. Values should merely be stable there, measure of the world's gold supply are gold-backed to an extent that exists nowhere else outside of France. But everyone knows they are not stable and have not been. Values have slumped in the U. S. as they have in Canada, with no prospect of the deflation stopping short of general impoverishment. And the slump has been due to the same cause. Individual incomes, which alone can maintain property values, have shrivelled up and in millions of cases vanished entirely.

Ottawa should ask itself some questions in the light of this report of the committee at Washington.
In the opinion of the committee "sound money" is a positive menace to the welfare and the interests of the people of the country that unquestionably has that kind of money, since it results in the destruction of their incomes, their standards of living and the values of their homes and business undertakings. What about the world's gold supply and the inflation of second money that our Government has been maintaining in Canada?

To what has the Canadian dollar been hitherto
—other than to a case of almost god-forgetting metal lying in vaults in Washington or New York—
in the attempt to maintain an obsolete and impossible gold standard from which the most of the nation have broken away?

If all the world that ever poets held
Had fed the flames that inspired their thoughts,
And every sunset that inspired their thoughts,
Their minds, and master on admired thoughts,
From their immortal fables of poetry,
Wherein, as in a mirror, we perceive
If there had been a human unity
If there had been a human unity
And all combined in beauty's worthiness,
One thought, one grace, and wonder of the least,
Which into words no virtue can depict.

Health and Diet Advice
By Dr. Frank McCoy

OUR FOOD SUPPLY DEPENDS
ENTIRELY ON PLANTS
Suppose you were cast away on a desert island and your food was low. You had managed to grow a patch of potatoes. Each day you would inspect the potatoes to see if they were fit to eat. You would probably pick up a leaf and look at
it. Finally you could dig down and get some and get some and get some potatoes and after that first meal
a satisfied feeling would descend on you. You would sit down with a full stomach and give thanks for the part the potatoes had played in taking raw materials from the soil and making them into something which you call food,
which you eat and enjoy.

In breathing and plants do something which you cannot do.
Every time you eat you are taking in advantage of the work plants have done. In today's a leaf I am going to tell you how the plant makes some of the common food substances.

One of the common food stuffs which plants make is starch. The plant takes carbon dioxide from the air, which is the same gas which you breathe out from your lungs as a waste, and from this carbon dioxide it manufactures starch, sugar and fat. It obtains the energy which is needed to break down the carbon from understand and it is able to absorb this energy by means of a green substance in the leaves called chlorophyll. It is this chlorophyll that enables the plant to make food.

The carbon goes through a series of chemical changes and the end product of one of these changes is starch, which is first formed in the green leaf of the plant exposed to the sun. Even the green leaves of spinach contain a large amount of starch.

To change the starch from the leaves to the parts where it is to be stored, it is digested and turned into sugar which can be taken up by water. In this form it easily travels to a part set aside for it. For example, in corn, the storage part is in the grains on the cob. Upon reaching the storage part it is changed back into starch again.

Protein, which is probably the most important substance we eat, comes from plants. Some of the proteins we get directly from plants, such as peas, but most of the important sources of protein
are made from plants.

The Passing Show

By J. S. Cooper

We are indebted today to W. Thompson of London, who wrote in a column of the Francisco Chronicle editorial section of Sunday, May 8, 1932. It's less than a year since it left the press, but what ironic genius Time has written since it was the morning.

The feature of the section is the front page illustrated editorial by Brisbane, written in kindergarten manner, with drawings to help it along.
The headline is "Shooting at the Dollar."
The sub-headline is "Shooting at the Dollar."

Let his readers might not know what shooting at the dollar is, an article that draws a large picture of an American gold dollar, with foreign soldiers shooting at it. Let his readers might not know what the American gold dollar is, or might not know that there are certain soldiers, the American gold dollar is labelled "America's good dollar," and the land on which the foreign soldiers are shooting is labelled "Europe." Some of the soldiers are labelled with the names of European countries. Uncle Sam is shown in a striped coat and top hat, standing behind the dollar and strikes down the dollar. He is saying, "Let them shoot."

Mr. Brisbane understands the mentality of those he writes for.

Some of the Brisbane teaching to his kindergartners—the same editorial page appeared in all the Hearst papers and in a multitude of syndicate papers throughout United States—would have many eyebrows on Threedeck Street to raise in wonderment. It reflects mass-opinion in United States at the time it was approaching collapse of its banking system, when returned cheques would no longer be marked "no funds," but "no bank."

Here are a few paragraphs with Mr. Brisbane's captioning.

"Shooting at the dollar," looking to lower
its value, occupies bankers, stock gamblers, business men and GOVERNMENTS in num-bersous countries. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

Our English friends also, their pound sterling of the gold standard, fallen in value by more than fifty per cent, the dollar would like to see
United States dollars cheaper.

The whole world buys from us.
If the costly dollar could be made cheaper,
foreigners would buy more of our goods.
It is not so much valued that the country that inspires "shooting at the dollar" as it is the material and other goods, to obtain those goods
as cheaply as possible. What they buy from us is the dollar, which they must pay a big price.

America intends at present, to maintain the gold standard. To begin with, our bonds and our mortgages are of our importation, and payable in GOLD. If we went off the gold basis those that owe mortgages and bonds would be able to pay them in dollars, and there would be two kinds of money—a cheaper money for which the farmer and manufacturer
would sell their produce and hire their labor, and the dollar, which would be taken in by the strong men that hold mortgages and bonds.

Uncle Sam now has full share of the world's gold, nearly one-half of it. He could

We could make certain that no gold that we now possess would leave us, and Uncle Sam could proceed with great ease to absorb more gold, and he would soon have in his vaults practically all of the world's monetary gold.

Then a CREDITORS' meeting. The whole world owes us money and is compelled to pay in GOLD if we demand it.

We could keep the balance of gold that we have in the treasury, putting an embargo on gold exports, and continue taking in gold until we had practically all of it.

But the dollar would do our so-called "friends" no good; they cannot hit or hurt the United States.

There is no thing to worry us if we keep this country properly protected, having in mind
the present method of waging war.

An Edmonton professional man was asked travelling through United States a year ago told on every hand that the depression was caused by Britain not paying her war debts. Nobody else had heard of it, and he was told that that United States was demanding payment for gold. Nobody seemed to know that Britain had been paid. Everybody seemed to think that United States had the world by the tail and with half the world's gold in her vaults had half the wealth of the world at her call. Nobody seemed to know that the sterilization of that huge amount of gold in the U.S. treasury and U.S. demands for payment of war debts in gold, had caused the collapse of U.S. foreign trade and put millions out of work.

Even Brisbane with all his means of knowledge, in the above-quoted article that it United States had the world's gold, and the billions of bonds and mortgages would be discharged in gold by insistence of the "strong men" of the world, and the world would be whole there is but 11 billion of monetary gold. In fact the four and half billion of gold that the U.S. treasury would not liquidate date ten per cent of the 50 billion of deposits in its national, state, private and savings banks.

Yet Mr. Brisbane, commencing his editorial ramble with words from both the Old Testament and the New, with arguments from Scripture, Shakespeare and the Bible, and the apocrypha, urged his readers to bow their necks beneath the yoke of gold.

The day before Roosevelt was installed, while the banks of 47 states had their doors closed,
I heard over the radio Brisbane address the Commercial Club in New York City. He said, "What will come out of the depression?" He was challenged Brisbane.

where it had emerged from the world war, victorious after having financed her allies, but in a penniless condition. Then, it was discovered, Britain em-

Edmonton Theatres Hold Scintillating Programs

Rialto to Show First All-British Double Feature

Edmonton to See Initial Program With Two Bills

Bringing to Edmonton theatre-goers the first all-British double feature bill ever to be shown in Canada and proving his unbounded faith in British studios and the great strides made by the British film industry in the past year, Manager William J. Long of the Rialto offers his most ambitious program so far on Monday when he opens with "Leap Year" and "The Millionaire" starring the greatest of all English comedians, Tom Walls and Kay Francis.

"Leap Year" is thoroughly "Wallian" picture, and to those discerning followers of the motion picture industry, that is sufficient.

HAS A WAR TINGE

It is a British and Dominion production from an original story by A. R. Wallington, was directed by Tom Walls. Anne Grey plays opposite the star, and the other forming the strong cast are Edmond Brann, Ellis Jeffreys, Jeanne Stuart, Charles Carson, Lawrence Harvey and Joan Brilly.

At a loss and after a period of Foreign Office duty on the Continent, Sir Peter Traill induces a beautiful stranger to dine with him.

They go away together and mutually confess when they part—their identities of both remaining secret—they have fallen deeply in love. They do not meet again for four years, by which time Sir Peter has been beguiled into an engagement with another woman. The poignant situations resulting, are cleverly handled.

The picture is splendid entertainment, exceedingly well acted and magnificently produced.

A DIFFERENT SHOW

"Say It With Music" is different. Since 1923 Jack Payne and his band have been the leaders in jazz organizations in Great Britain. Since February, 1928, they have been the featured musical organization for the British Broadcasting company, and during the time they have appeared on B. B. C. programs they have gained a world-wide popularity.

Around the activities of the band has been built a wonderfully interesting story, with a tinge of war-time days in the Royal Flying Corps.

The brilliant Eugene O'Neill drama, "Strange Interlude," which ran for a year and a half on Broadway, comes to the Dreamland today with Norma Shearer playing the intensely emotional heroine, Nina Leeds, and Clark Gable cast as Doctor Ned Darrell, whose influence plays have with her life.

As a play, "Strange Interlude" was probably the most discussed and highly praised stage work in the history of the American drama. Its amazing use of spoken thought or "soliloquies" has been retained in the screen version.

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—Janet Gaylor, diminutive movie actress, was granted a divorce Friday from Lyndell Peck, seven years, formerly of Oakland.

and London during and after the armistice. It is a story that is as unique as it is different, and added to the heart throbs in the story is a wonderful melange of music and melody that makes the film itself one of the most popular and outstanding productions yet seen on the screen.

In four years the band played three thousand different tunes, and in its last year, played one thousand tunes in six hundred and fifty hours of broadcasting, requiring one thousand five hundred hours of rehearsal.

The record broadcasting performance was four and a half hours in one day and fifty-five different tunes, a colossal achievement in view of the fact that all Jack Payne's numbers are played from memory.

Colman Stars ON CAPITOL'S SCREEN TODAY

Francis in Film "Cynara"

Ronald Colman, star of a long line of Samuel Goldwyn screen successes, comes to the Capitol theatre today for a run of three days in "Cynara," his latest and, in the opinion of his friends, his best United Artists picture.

As was the case with "Arrowhead," his last picture, Colman turned new ground in "Cynara."

There are two leading women in "Cynara."

One is well known to American audiences and the other one a new discovery.

Francis portrays the role of the young wife, and the newcomer is Phyllis Barry.

Young English girl who had not before appeared in a Hollywood picture.

But that discrepancy is about to be corrected, for now that "Cynara" has been made from other producers.

A number of critics claim to see in Miss Barry what they found in the early Joan Crawford and more recently in Katharine Hepburn.

Henry Stephenson, who originated the role of John Tring in the stage version of "Cynara," repeats his part with Colman, and makes of it an even more lovable character than it was on the stage.

The story concerns itself with a rising young barrister who, against his better judgment, permits his best friend to draw him into an involved flirtation which turns out very disastrously for all hands concerned.

It is a quiet, human story one which might have happened to anybody. No melodramas, no villains, no heartbreaks. It is a humanly romantic drama laid against a background of luxury and well-being and nice living.

Francis in Film "Cynara"

Ronald Colman, star of a long line of Samuel Goldwyn screen successes, comes to the Capitol theatre today for a run of three days in "Cynara," his latest and, in the opinion of his friends, his best United Artists picture.

As was the case with "Arrowhead," his last picture, Colman turned new ground in "Cynara."

There are two leading women in "Cynara."

One is well known to American audiences and the other one a new discovery.

Francis portrays the role of the young wife, and the newcomer is Phyllis Barry.

River Saskatchewan Still Frozen Over

NO SIGN OF BERGS GOING OUT AS YET

Ice in Saskatchewan Seems to be Pretty Solid Experts Say

Curfew may ring tonight, but it is quite unnecessary as far as the ice on the Saskatchewan river is concerned. For the river is not going out tonight.

This is the authority of James Weir, Reg. of the Alberta Motor Road company and official custodian of the river ice, who has kept a check on ice movements and the time and tide of water for years.

"No, there is no sign of the river moving yet," Mr. Weir said, when the Bulletin reporter called him up on Friday.

"Give it a while yet, anyway," he added. "The ice seems real solid yet. There are no loose pieces drifting along the edge. There is a little run of water, but even a lot of this stuff you are running down here is from the power house."

Motor Body Given Support By Towns

Supporting the Alberta Motor Association in its opposition to the one-cent tax increase and the fact that motorists purchasing licenses prior to April 3 will receive no rebate despite the fact that auto licenses dropped $3 on that date, the towns of Chinook and Bannock, Alta., have passed resolutions to this effect.

The town of Raymond has forwarded a resolution to Premier Brownlee asking that these motorists who purchased licenses before April 3 be given a rebate of $2.

NO REPEAL ON GAS TAX REBATE

Prevailing conditions are such that no consideration can be given this year to repeal of the rebate on the gasoline tax, Premier J. H. Brownlee told a delegation from the Alberta Motor Association which interviewed him on Friday.

The delegation had asked that such repeal be urged.

Headed by C. H. Grant, R. C. and Frank Harbottle of the A.M.A. the delegation, in its representation, directed main attention to the rebate question.

They took the position that with the extent to which the government had cut down highway construction and maintenance, that the gas tax must now be considered a straight general revenue tax and there would be some action in the next year.

It was on this ground that the request for repeal was made.

In reply, the Premier said that while to consideration of any such action could be given at this season, there would be some action in the next year.

But, the government, in the coming year, proposed to not only check up more rigidly on applications for refund, but also intended to make a study of the manner in which the refund was operating.

This study would lead the government to any conclusion as to whether the rebate should be modified or not.

The gas tax provisions permit a number of rebates for industrial purposes, and represent a large percentage of the total collection.

SETTLEMENT NEAR IN MINE DISPUTE

DRUMHELLER, April 8.—While the mine dispute in the town of Regina has been going on for some time, the fact that auto licenses dropped $3 on that date, the towns of Chinook and Bannock, Alta., have passed resolutions to this effect.

The town of Raymond has forwarded a resolution to Premier Brownlee asking that these motorists who purchased licenses before April 3 be given a rebate of $2.

A. M. A. ISSUES HIGHWAY REPORT

Latest information on the condition of provincial and Dominion highways was received from J. A. McNeil, manager of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Motor Association, at a meeting held here on Friday.

Condition of the various highways follows in brief:

Edmonton-Lloydminster—Good to Vermilion, possible from Vermilion to Lloydminster.

Edmonton-Beaver River—Good to Clyde; bad from Clyde to Athabasca; closed beyond Athabasca.

Edmonton-Jasper—Fair to Edmonton to Jasper now opening.

Edmonton-Chinook—Good to Irma; bad from Irma to Wainwright; closed from Wainwright to Chinook.

Wainwright-Macklin—Good to Hardisty; closed beyond Hardisty to Macklin.

Regina-Jasper—Open to Regina; bad from Regina to Wainwright.

Crossed West Pass—Road in poor shape and motorists finding it hard to negotiate.

Road officials look for a vast improvement in the condition of all highways by next week.

FRED STEWART IS RECOVERING

CAMROSE, April 8.—Reports from St. Mary's Hospital, Camrose, indicate that Fred Stewart is recovering from burns and shock sustained as a result of coming in contact with a high voltage wire early today morning.

Fred Stewart, who graduated from the University of Alberta with a degree of B.Sc. in electrical engineering some years ago, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart. He was traveling home from his home in Camrose, where he was studying electrical engineering, when he was struck by a high voltage wire.

Minimum Wage For Teachers Is Same Barnett Declares

Referring to the recent amendment in the school act presented to the Alberta legislature by Hon. Fernan Baker, minister of education, J. W. Barnett, general secretary of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance, stated Friday that contrary to the belief of many the amendment means no change in the minimum wage of $3.00 per year for teachers.

Previously, the act required that an inspector must verify after an investigation that the actual daily wage was not less than the minimum of $3.00. The minister then could approve of the act.

Work in Leather Will Be Scored As Models Judged

By FRANK C. RIESS

Technical instructor, Boys' City Craftsmans' Club.

In trimming and upholstering the Napoleonic coach model, members of the Edmonton Youth Chapter of the Father Dufour Craftsmans' Guild will require some leather of leather substitute to cover the folding steps, the board and footman's board, and top. Then look there are numerous leather straps needed.

All the leather work will be scored as "first class" when the models are judged next July in the competition for the six university awards and other valuable awards totaling $85,000.

When fitting the top board and footman's board with leather coverings, taper the outside edge of the leather so no thick, raw edges are exposed to mar the appearance of your work. This tapering should be done on the under side of the leather with a sharp knife. Bevel it back far enough so that there is a gradual incline to the center of the footman's board, a small amount of padding should be used to produce the result shown in your instruction manual, page 19.

In many instances last year, the straps were too thin for the purpose intended, especially the body suspension straps. These and the spring cover straps should be thick enough to carry the weight of the body without stretching. All straps should be either stitched or laced together by hand or on a sewing machine.

Leaves may be tooled in the leather by shaping a piece of hardwood strap more closely.

RICE SHEPPARD ADDRESSES U.F.A.

Training the development of the former movement from its beginnings in 1904, Al. Rice Sheppard, in an address to Edmonton Local No. 18, U.F.A., told of the first meetings around camp places, the disappointments and minor triumphs as well as progress that have since the making of the first organization.

Mr. Sheppard traced the history of the U.F.A. through its various stages, the old Society of Unity and the Alberta Farmers' Association, to the amalgamation of the two in the present United Farmers of Alberta. The address stated that it was through the vision of W. H. Hall that the organization received its real start.

Next meeting will be held on May 3.

Elevator Man Falls 30 Feet, Badly Hurt

LACOMBE, April 8.—W. D. Murdoch, local manager of the Alberta Pacific elevator, suffered grave injuries Thursday afternoon when he fell 30 feet into an empty bin.

Lacombes says he has sufficient broken slatting blades, a broken eye and extensive head injuries. He is expected to recover, although the extent of his injuries are yet unknown.

Dr. W. T. Hyman and F. D. Locke are attending him at the Lacombe hospital.

CUT DRUMHELLER TAX PREDICTED

DRUMHELLER, April 8.—Substantial reduction in Drumhellers tax rate was predicted by the Drumhellers Mail Thursday. While no official statement has been made by city officials, the Mail says that a reduction of from two to three mills can be expected when tax rate is announced. It is known that a strong minority of council has favored a cut this year and recent sessions of council held in camera are taken as a sign that council has been poring down its proposed expenditures.

Last year the city suffered over $13,000.00 in the waterworks sinking fund and had a further $5000 surplus.

Printing Costs Again Up Before Committee

Printing costs again occupied attention of the public accounts committee of the legislature on Friday. L. A. Gross, Liberal, (Grand) presented for the printing of questions and answers, (Grand) in connection with the election, contending that such answers were for the public good. In all 11 answers to 94 questions were brought down before committee. They were considered as subject matter for printing. It was estimated that the cost would be $200.

Mr. Gross contended that this was a small item when the government printing bill last year had totaled $45,000 with another $50,000 for the telephone.

It was decided not to print the matter, thus saving the $200.

WHEAT FORCED FRACTIONALLY LOWER IN PIT

WINNIPEG, April 8.—General lack of interest in trading on the grain exchange here today forced wheat prices fractionally lower at the close of the week's trading. In spite of a small export business in Canadian wheat of which the estimate was available, wheat futures prices were a shade lower. Little interest was taken in wheat at Chicago.

May closed at 81 1/2, July at 82 1/2 and October at 84 1/2.

Wheat continued active at Canadian wheat at Atlantic ports by the quantity was not large enough to have any important effect on trading sentiment. Light offerings helped wheat prices to meet the decline but volume of trade was comparatively light and the latter part of the session operations were very dull.

The Western Canadian weather map showed some snow in southern sections and movement of wheat from farms was reported slowed up by bad roads. Wheat delivered by farmers to country points yesterday totaled 20,000 bushels or 40 per cent of the total on the same day a year ago.

Fort William stocks of wheat rose by 20,000 bushels to reach a total of 134,000 compared with 104,000 bushels at the time of the last week's trading. In the various grades of Canadian wheat there was no sale and spreads remained unimportant.

HOW TO PLACE A HANDKERCHIEF UNDER WATER WITHOUT GETTING IT WET !!

TAKE A BOWL OF WATER... ROLL A HANDKERCHIEF INTO A BALL AND PLACE IT IN A GLASS—PRESS THE HANKY DOWN INTO BOTTOM OF GLASS... NOW TURN GLASS UPSIDE DOWN AND LOWER IT SLOWLY INTO THE BOWL... WHEN YOU LIFT THE GLASS OUT AGAIN, YOU WILL FIND THAT, ALTHOUGH THE HANKY HAS BEEN ACTUALLY UNDER WATER, IT WILL STILL BE QUITE DRY.

A PROBLEM!

DO YOU KNOW A NUMBER WHICH, IF DIVIDED BY TWO, ONE WILL BE LEFT OVER; IF DIVIDED BY THREE, TWO WILL BE LEFT; IF DIVIDED BY FOUR, THREE WILL BE LEFT; IF DIVIDED BY FIVE, FOUR WILL BE LEFT?

SEE NEXT WEEK'S MAGICORNER FOR THE NUMBER!
